General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) Statement

The European Union (EU) General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) came into effect on May 25, 2018.

This regulation was designed to enhance data privacy and provide a legal framework for protection of personal data. Some key changes to the existing EU data protection law include increased accountability and individual rights, data protection measures, and data breach notifications. GDPR applies to all organizations in the EU. Additionally, all organizations outside of the EU that handle data of individuals in the EU must comply with GDPR.

Blue Mountain Quality Resources, Inc. has reviewed and assessed the new regulations and determined appropriate measures to ensure continued compliance with GDPR. To contact our Data Protection Officer, please email privacy@coolblue.com.
